

Strengthening contractor compliance and management

Keeping contractors at Presbyterian Ladies' College compliant

Presbyterian Ladies' College (PLC) is renowned as one of Australia's leading independent schools for girls. With a reputation for their forward thinking curriculum and diverse co-curricular programs.

Prior to engaging Civica (formerly LinkSafe), PLC faced an issue with strengthening and fine tuning the management of contractor compliance.

"The screening procedures in place at PLC needed to be updated – we wanted to ensure we maintained a team of contractors that were staying compliant to our business regulations without any complications," said Ray Darbitz, Facilities Manager of Presbyterian Ladies' College.

The solution

According to Ray Darbitz, "Civica provided an efficient, straightforward login system for our contractors to register their details with ease, and in a timely manner.

This saved us from having to deal with incorrect data due to human errors and ensured that a high level of compliance is maintained."

Civica's Legal service was used to assist in creating their content to ensure a smooth process around compliance and best practice. Helping PLC's contractors to be fully informed with their business rules and guidelines.

The results

Civica Contractor Management has provided PLC with an efficient system to accurately manage their extensive database of 120 contractors. Whilst eliminating any misunderstanding of set regulations in place.

- 1 High level of compliance maintained
- 2 Confidence contractor documentation is legal
- 3 Contractors can easily register their details

"The team have been great to work with – they executed the solution with great professionalism and are experienced in what they do. I would highly recommend them to businesses needing to engage in watertight contractor safety management services."

Ray Darbitz, Facilities Manager, Presbyterian Ladies' College
