For your complete archive and heritage management

Today's heritage collections are rich and unique repositories of community knowledge and information in both physical and digital formats. However, the dilemma many organisations often face is how to make these diverse collections accessible and searchable to their communities.

Our solution is Spydus10 Cultural Collections, a Web-based system for archival materials and heritage collections, including multimedia.

Connecting people - Enriching communities

Spydus Cultural Collections integrates your organisation's archival materials with traditional library resources for a single, or separate if preferred, search as the modules can be used separately or altogether.

Collection management

Spydus10 Cultural Collections enables you to effectively and efficiently manage your collections. It has workflows for the accessioning, cataloguing and the conservation of assets. It also has functionality to track requests, loans, exhibitions and stock movement.

Our cultural collections advantage

The Spydus10 advantage lies in its ability to provide for ISAD(G), MARC and non-MARC resources. A single search across multiple records is possible.

One simple search

Spydus10 Cultural Collections enables your organisation's rich collection of books, papers, images, and multimedia materials to be just one click away from discovery. Your organisation's archive collections can be refined by material type, time period, geographic areas, subject heading, plus more. Thumbnail images to digital assets can be linked to each record to create an attractive and user friendly interface.

Library and archive expertise

Civica expertise delivers a world class solution from 30 years of innovation in library systems and over 10 years in archive systems. Designed and tested by information professionals, we understand the growing demands of all organisations to cater to both physical and online communities. Spydus10 makes managing your organisations's resources simple and smart.

Case Study

Masterton District Library and Wairarapa Archive, New Zealand

Civica's archive solution has enabled the The Masterton District Library and the Wairarapa Archive, New Zealand, to open their collections to the world through online access, enabling self-directed searching worldwide. The ability to deliver a wide range of formats through both the digital repository and the database has put the Wairarapa Archive at the forefront of New Zealand community archives. As Civica's system is ISAAD compliant it has allowed the Wairarapa Archive to contribute to federated databases such as Digital NZ. The web based data entry has made staff training and use quicker.
